

In this time where there has been a terrifying surge in antisemitic speech and violence, we urge our colleagues at ATS to join in signing this Open Letter Against Antisemitism sponsored by Claremont School of Theology and the Academy for Jewish Religion. We feel confident that making a statement that as people of faith we stand together against antisemitism, we will have the opportunity to have an impact on our larger religious communities. We will also be making clear that attacks against one religion are really attacks against humankind as a whole.

Thank you in advance to all of you, our colleagues, for standing together with us during this very difficult time.
